AFTERNOON SESSION

1:30 P.M.

The following list contains the names of candidates for degrees, the granting of which is contingent upon successful completion of all the requirements for the degree.

One asterisk after the name indicates the candidate is being graduated with honors, two asterisks indicate high honors, and three asterisks indicate highest honors.

DOCTOR OF MUSIC

MARJORIE LAWRENCE

For thirteen years Marjorie Lawrence, an internationally renowned soprano whose career is well documented in books, recordings and film, served as a distinguished professor on the faculty of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. During those years the university received the benefit of her unusual talent and her outstanding ability to inspire students.

Marjorie Lawrence, born on a farm in the Australian bush, early exhibited the strong will and courageous spirit that has characterized her entire life. When her father objected to his daughter's desire for a singing career, the future prima donna ran away from home and, with no financial backing but with a magnificent voice and much determination, began her vocal studies. A mere four years later, at the age of twenty-three, she made her debut with the Monte Carlo Opera and soon was the leading soprano for the Paris Opera. Three years later she joined the Metropolitan Opera Company and became one of the most highly sought-after sopranos in the United States and Europe.

In 1941 while she and Dr. Thomas King were on their honeymoon in Mexico City the tragedy of polio struck. Following a difficult period of recuperation, therapy and adjustment, she appeared one and one-half years later as a recitalist and again established herself as a major artist who was inundated with requests to appear in opera, on radio, in recital and with orchestra. During this time she received the French La Legion d'Honneur, invitations for command performances at Buckingham Palace and the White House and countless other honors.

Miss Lawrence decided to retire in 1952 but soon she became restless and turned to teaching. In 1960 she joined the faculty of Southern Illinois University. It was a productive and happy association during which the School of Music's opera program grew steadily in reputation.

The years since her retirement from SIU in 1973 have brought new laurels to Marjorie Lawrence both at home and abroad. The National Federation of Music Clubs honored her in 1973 and her portrait was unveiled at a ceremony in the Gallery of the Metropolitan Opera House in 1976. She returned to her native Australia (1976) to receive honors there and was proclaimed a Commander of the British Empire by Queen Elizabeth II (1977).

Professor Lawrence's artistic and personal achievements have been an inspiration to two generations of faculty and students at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. We have been fortunate to have shared her talent, her experience, her distinguished accomplishments and an important part of her life.

MORNING SESSION

(10:00)

The following list contains the names of candidates for degrees, the granting of which is contingent upon successful completion of all the requirements for the degree.

One asterisk after the name indicates the candidate is being graduated with honors, two asterisks indicate high honors, and three asterisks indicate highest honors.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD

MARIE A. HINRICHS

Dr. Hinrichs was born and educated in Illinois and has spent most of her adult life serving the state, the community, and the University. Her career has been highlighted by her scholarly contributions in physiology, her organizational contributions to the Department of Physiology and Health Education and her enormous contribution to Health Education, especially at SIUC. This is especially evident in her outstanding organization and administration of the Health Service at SIUC.

Born in Chicago in 1892, Dr. Hinrichs received an A.B. degree with Shield Honors in 1917 from Lake Forest College; a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1934. Dr. Hinrichs gained research experience in cellular physiology and radiation physiology at the University of Chicago as both a Research Associate and National Research Fellow. In addition, she spent a year as a Research Assistant in the Nela Laboratory in Cleveland and fifteen summers in study and research at Woods Hole Marine Biological Laboratory and Friday Harbor.

She taught at the elementary school and collegiate level before coming to SIUC in 1935 as an Associate Professor. She was head of the Department of Physiology and Health Education at SIUC from 1935 to 1949 and was made Professor in 1939. She later went on to the University of Illinois in the Department of Health Education and served there from 1949 until her retirement.

Dr. Hinrichs' contributions to the scholarly community were extensive. She published about fifty papers in the field of cellular physiology and in student health problems. In this last area she had an enormous impact on the SIUC community. Upon arriving at SIUC in 1935 she became the Director of Health Services. This duty included coverage of all campus personnel from pre-school through the college level. She served in this capacity from 1935 to 1949, transforming the Health Service from one in which the students seeking medical assistance were assigned to local physicians who rotated from week to week to a comprehensive Health Service similar to the one we have today.

The Department of Physiology and Health Education flowered under her direction into one of the nation's outstanding departments with many distinguished graduates. Under Dr. Hinrichs' leadership, SIUC began developing what have today become some of the outstanding units of the University (e.g. Physiology, Health Education, Microbiology, and Anatomy). In addition to being Director of the Student Health Services, she introduced health practices into physical education and made many advances in school health. She was recognized by the American School Health Association for Distinguished Service in 1962 and was a recipient of the Howe Award from that organization in 1969.

Dr. Hinrichs' enormous contributions to both scholarship and administration in physiology and health education and her superb efforts at organizing the SIUC Health Service have had a lasting effect on all people of the University community. Her contribution especially through publication and committee work to health education have greatly benefit mankind. It is fitting on this occasion that Southern Illinois University at Carbondale should recognize Marie A. Hinrichs by presenting her with its Distinguished Service Award.

AFTERNOON SESSION

(2:00)

The following list contains the names of candidates for degrees, the granting of which is contingent upon successful completion of all the requirements for the degree.

One asterisk after the name indicates the candidate is being graduated with honors, two asterisks indicate high honors, and three asterisks indicate highest honors.

RALPH E. MCCOY

Dr. Ralph McCoy has contributed an enormous amount to the libraries of Illinois. Under his guidance, Morris Library at Southern Illinois University has become an excellent research library. In addition, Dr. McCoy's work in the area of freedom of the press and censorship has been very important to the scholarly community.

Born in St. Louis in 1915, Dr. McCoy received an A.B. degree from Illinois Wesleyan University in 1937, a B.S.L.S. from the University of Illinois in 1939, and an M.S. from the University of Illinois in 1950. After having taught in the Marissa Township High School, Dr. McCoy worked first as an Assistant Librarian at the University of Illinois and then as Editor of Publications and Administrative Assistant at Illinois State Library from 1937 to 1943. After serving in the army Dr. McCoy became Librarian at the Quartermaster Technical Library at Ft. Lee, Virginia, and returned to the University of Illinois in 1948 as a Librarian in the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations. He served in this capacity in 1948 to 1955 and completed his Ph.D. in Library Science in 1956. He moved to SIUC in 1955 where he served as the Director of the Libraries and later as Dean of Library Affairs until 1976.

Dr. McCoy's contributions to the libraries at SIUC cannot be over-emphasized. When Dr. McCoy first joined the faculty in 1955 Wheeler Library held approximately 160,000 volumes; at the time of his retirement in 1976, Morris Library was approaching 1.5 million volumes, making it the 42nd largest university library in the nation and earning it membership in the select Association of Research Libraries. In addition, he recruited much of the staff necessary to build, organize, and interpret these collections to the University community. Needless to say the growth of the undergraduate, graduate, and research programs of SIUC over the past two decades could not have taken place without the development of this major research library.

In addition to general research information, Dr. McCoy actively developed special collections of rare books and manuscripts. Morris Library now possesses one of the most comprehensive collections of James Joyce materials as well as the papers of Lennox Robinson, longtime director of Ireland's Abbey Theatre. Other outstanding manuscript areas are modern American, British, and Irish literature and theatre, and modern philosophy. Dr. McCoy also recognized the necessity for the collection and preservation of materials in the history of printing and publication within Illinois. In conjunction with the growth of Illinois imprint material, the University Archives is engaged in an extensive program of collecting historical manuscripts of both local and national importance.

Especially notable among Dr. McCoy's many publications is his Freedom of the Press; An Annotated Bibliography which appeared in 1969 and won awards from both the American Library Association and the American Association of Law Libraries. A ten-year supplement to this work is being issued by the SIU Press this spring. Dr. McCoy is also listed in Who's Who in America. He has also served graduate education as a member of doctoral committees in Education, History, Journalism, Philosophy, and Political Science.

Dr. McCoy's service to Illinois and to Southern Illinois can also be recognized by his service as a library consultant for fourteen different colleges and universities, and his membership on the Council of the Center for Research Libraries in Chicago from 1965 to 1976. (He was a member of its Board of Trustees from 1971 to 1974.) He was also the President of the Association for Colleges and Research Libraries (1966) and has been very active in the American Library Association, serving on many committees including its Council (1966). In addition, he was the ALA representative to the American Council on Education in 1970. Locally, he has served on the Carbondale Public Library Board from 1961 to 1974 and was its President from 1966 to 1974. He was also a charter member of the Shawnee Systems Library Board serving from 1964 to 1971.

Because of his contributions to the libraries of Illinois and his scholarship, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale recognizes Ralph E. McCoy by presenting him with its Distinguished Service Award.

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

The Southern Illinois University System

The Southern Illinois University System is a senior, public university system comprised of two diverse institutions, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, serving approximately 33,000 students. One of the nation's largest, The Southern Illinois University System had its beginnings in Carbondale and was chartered in 1869 as Southern Illinois Normal University. In 1949 Southern Illinois University began offering off-campus academic courses in the Metropolitan East St. Louis area, and this initiative led to the eventual development of a separate, distinctive institution in Edwardsville.

The mission and scope of The Southern Illinois University System is highly complex and emphasizes a commitment to quality education. As The Southern Illinois University System has grown and flourished, its constituent Universities have developed programs of instruction, research, and public service which have attracted and served students, faculty, and staff not only from the region but from throughout the State of Illinois and the nation, and from overseas as well.

The Universities within The Southern Illinois University System offer a broad range of academic programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master's, doctoral, and professional degree levels. In addition to the many undergraduate degree programs offered, the constituent Universities support over sixty academic programs which lead to the master's degree, and twenty-two programs which lead to the doctorate. The professional schools are designed to provide quality health and legal personnel and services to the people of the State of Illinois. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville operates a School of Nursing in Edwardsville and a School of Dental Medicine in Alton, and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale has a School of Law in Carbondale and a School of Medicine headquartered in Springfield. Of the 33,000 students currently enrolled, more than 6,000 are enrolled in graduate and professional programs.

The instruction, research, and service missions of the two constituent Universities reflect the needs of the geographic areas in which they are located. The System is also committed to serving Statewide, national, and international needs. This commitment is reflected in educational activities located off the main campuses in communities throughout the State and the nation. Its presence is also felt in countries other than the United States through research and training exchanges and through worldwide student exchange programs.

The Southern Illinois University System is governed by a nine-member Board of Trustees which sets policy that enables the institutions to carry out established missions and goals. The Chancellor of The Southern Illinois University System is the chief executive officer of the System and is the primary link between the Universities and the Board of Trustees. The University Presidents report directly to the Chancellor and are responsible for the internal operations of the respective institutions.

The Southern Illinois University System is headed by Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw. Appointed by the Board of Trustees in July, 1979, Chancellor Shaw is the chief spokesman and leader of this dynamic, comprehensive university system.

MORNING SESSION

(10:00)

The following list contains the names of candidates for degrees, the granting of which is contingent upon successful completion of all the requirements for the degree.

One asterisk after the name indicates the candidate is being graduated with honors, two asterisks indicate high honors, and three asterisks indicate highest honors.

DOCTOR OF LAWS

Dr. Frank Stanton

The diversity of Dr. Frank Stanton's involvement in public issues, the visual and performing arts, international affairs, energy, scholarly research and other areas is rare for one individual. The combination of his outstanding achievements merits congratulations particularly in this time of specialization.

Because of the diversity of his career, it is especially appropriate for Dr. Stanton to receive an honorary degree from SIUC with its tripartite mission of teaching, research, and service. He has served on the staff of Ohio State, Princeton, and Columbia Universities. He has done academic research in such diverse areas as comparative measurement of eye versus ear, radio research (as an editor), and as co-developer (with Dr. Paul Lazarsfeld) of a program analyzer. He has also co-authored a book, Student's Guide--The Study of Psychology, as well as authored two films, "Some Physiological Reactions to Emotional Stimuli" and "Factors in Visual Depth Perception".

He has maintained his connection with academia through his membership on various visiting committees as well as being an overseer at Harvard University. He is a member of the visiting committee for the Department of Terrestrial Magnetism (Carnegie Institution of Washington), the Graduate School of Design (Harvard University), the John F. Kennedy School of Government (Harvard), and the Office of Information Technology (Harvard). He is also on the advisory council of the Institute of Communications and Culture (Tufts University). In addition he is a licensed psychologist of the State of New York and is a Diplomate of the American Board of Professional Psychology. He is also Chairman of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

It is, however, in his service role that he has most benefited mankind. As President of CBS for twenty-five years and as Chairman of the American National Red Cross from 1973 to 1979, as well as Vice Chairman of the League of Red Cross Societies (Geneva), he has had a profound positive effect on the world in which we live. Dr. Stanton was chairman of the U.S. Advisory Commission on Information, having been appointed by President Johnson in 1964 and reappointed to a third 3-year term by President Nixon.

In 1975 Dr. Stanton concluded a study of public diplomacy as Chairman of the Panel on International Information, Education and Cultural Relations at Georgetown University's Center for Strategic and International Studies. He is a Trustee of The RAND Corporation, a Graduate Member of The Business Council, Chairman and a Trustee of the Rockefeller Foundation, founding member and former Chairman of the Business Committee for the Arts, and a Director of the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. He is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Psychological Association, the New York Academy of Science, and Sigma Delta Chi.

In addition to the above accomplishments, Dr. Stanton served as the founding Chairman of the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences (Stanford, California). From 1961 to 1967 he served as Chairman of The Rand Corporation (Santa Monica, California). In 1926, along with Hadley Cantril, Dr. Stanton launched the Princeton Radio Research Project, under the direction of Paul Lazarsfeld. This project was later moved to Columbia University, where it was expanded into the Bureau of Applied Social Research.

In 1961, for his sustained effort to bring about the presidential "Great Debates," he received the George Foster Peabody Award and the commendation of President Kennedy, who said, "His role in making it possible for last year's TV debates to take place was a significant advance in American politics..." In 1972 he received a Special Peabody Award for his defense of broadcast journalism and "the people's right to know." This was in connection with a House Committee's effort to have him cited in contempt of Congress for his refusal to yield non-broadcast materials used in the CBS documentary, "The Selling of the Pentagon." On July 13, 1971, the House of Representatives voted 226 to 181 to find Dr. Stanton not in contempt.

In 1967 the American Institute of Architects awarded Dr. Stanton a special citation "for his significant achievements in the advancement of man's environment, architecture and the applied arts".

In 1971 he became the first person to receive for a second time the Paul White Memorial Award of the Radio Television News Directors Association, which cited his "courageous and determined efforts in defending the broadcast journalist's constitutional rights..."

Dr. Charles D. Tenney

Dr. Tenney was educated in the West and in 1931 came to Carbondale, where he stayed for 42 years. His 27 years of administrative work coincided with the time of the most rapid expansion of the University. Always working within the system, he accomplished much at SIUC as chairman or a member of many of the most important committees and projects on campus. For example, he started the Philosophy Department and acted as its chairman for twenty years.

His main contribution, however, was to the university atmosphere as a whole, through his dedication to the concept of excellence. He said in interviews and wrote in articles what excellence meant in a university setting. For example, in the General bulletin to the Faculty (October 27, 1953), he wrote, "...genuine excellence, though difficult to describe, is patent to almost everyone who seeks it. It is not an abstraction transcending the daily activities of the university, rather, it adheres in and derives from these activities. It is the sum total of the University's excellences, intellectual, aesthetic, moral, and practical." His understanding of excellence also showed itself in his views of what excellence meant in different areas. He said, "We should all wish our own departments and special interests to be considered important, and oddly enough all of them can be --if each is pursued with the standards of excellence applicable to it. Where we go wrong is in assuming that these standards are universally applicable, in trying to prove that other departments are inferior because they do not meet our standards, or in twisting our own standards to those of the other departments which seem to be most successful at a particular time. Excellence is everywhere and always as unique as it is elusive." The search for excellence at a university should be de rigueur. In a university expanding rapidly, it was important to have someone with the standards and aesthetic taste of Charles D. Tenney, continually looking at the university as a whole and making sure that it did indeed seek high quality performance from students and faculty.

Born in Montana in 1906, Dr. Tenney was educated at Gooding College and received a Ph.D. at the University of Oregon in 1931 after a year of graduate study at Harvard University. He started at SINU in 1931 as an Assistant Professor of English and rose through the ranks, achieving the rank of Professor of English and Professor of philosophy in 1944. In 1969, as a recognition of his pervasive accomplishments in both English and philosophy, he was named University Professor. This most prestigious title was given him at a time when there were only four other University Professors on campus.

It was not just his academic accomplishments which made him so important to SIUC. As an administrator, his titles ranged from Acting Chairman of the Department of Philosophy (1936-55), Executive Assistant in Education and Administration in the President's Office (1945-50), Chief Officer of Instruction and then Vice President for Instruction (1953-64), and Vice President for Planning and Review (1964-70). His service to the University culminated with his work as Project Director for Resources for Tomorrow from 1970 until his retirement in 1973.

A discussion of titles alone does not do justice to Dr. Tenney's contributions to the University. President Delyte W. Morris had many programs that he was interested in establishing and Dr. Tenney was given the responsibility for their organization and development. One example is the development of the Computing Service. This he organized under the direction of an academician to foster the development of academic research as well as to systemize the processing of operational functions such as payroll, registration, etc. Dr. Tenney also realized that a university which would grow from two thousand students to more than twenty thousand students would have an enormous increase in its staff. He foresaw that this situation would require the guidance of senior scholars and so instituted a visiting professor program in 1955 which enabled both students and faculty to come in contact with many prominent scholars. He was also instrumental in the establishment of the Rehabilitation Institute in 1955, long before this type of program was generally adopted around the country. In addition, he helped organize the University Press and was instrumental in selecting its first director, Vernon Sternberg, who served so well and helped to give the Press its high reputation. In addition to the above, he organized the University's centennial celebration.

Dr. Charles D. Tenney's ceaseless dedication to excellence, his enormous creative energies, his ability to get the job done, were an important part of the growing years of Southern Illinois University. Dr. Tenney played an integral part in developing SIUC into the excellent institution which it now is.

AFTERNOON SESSION

(2:00)

The following list contains the names of candidates for degrees, the granting of which is contingent upon successful completion of all the requirements for the degree.

One asterisk after the name indicates the candidate is being graduated with honors, two asterisks indicate high honors, and three asterisks indicate highest honors.

DOCTOR OF LAWS

Ambassador Donald F. McHenry

Ambassador McHenry's contributions to world peace and human rights have been exemplary. Until recently, the prime thrust of his career has been African diplomacy. His best known accomplishment in this area is as a leader of the long Western negotiations for South African agreement to a U.N. independence plan for South-West Africa (Namibia). He also counseled Vice President Mondale during his 1977 trip to Europe. This trip included crucial discussions with Prime Minister Vorster of South Africa which attempted to form a basis for ending apartheid. More recently, he has handled with his usual delicacy such diplomatic problems as the 1979 negotiations with Soviet diplomats over the departure from the United States of a Russian ballerina.

The recognition of his accomplishments has culminated with his appointment in September of 1979 as the United States Ambassador to the United Nations. In making the appointment, President Carter said of Ambassador McHenry, "He's a highly qualified professional who is familiar with the major issues before the United Nations. I have complete confidence in him. Ambassador McHenry fulfills all the requirements, I think, for a superb appointment." As United States Ambassador to the United Nations, Mr. McHenry will be in a perfect position to further United States policies and to deal effectively with questions of human rights and dignity.

Donald F. McHenry was born in East St. Louis, Illinois in 1936. He graduated from high school at age 16 and was president of the graduating class. He received a Bachelor of Science in 1957 from Illinois State University and a Master of Science from SIU in 1959. At this time, his specialties were Speech and Political Science. The title of his thesis ("The Presidential Press Conference in Foreign Policy: A Rhetorical and Political Critique") portended his deep understanding of the necessity of both form and content in diplomacy. While a teaching assistant at SIU he was also assistant coach of the debate team. These talents were further developed while he was an instructor of English and director of debate at Howard University. At this same time, he also took some graduate work at Georgetown University. He joined the Department of State in 1963 as a Foreign Affairs Officer and progressed to Special Assistant to the Counselor of the Department of State in 1969. His service was of such high merit that he won the Department's Superior Honor Award in 1966.

From 1971 to 1973 he was on leave from the Department of State and served first as a professorial lecturer in the School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University and then as guest scholar at the Brookings Institution. During this time he was an international affairs fellow of the Council on Foreign Relations and wrote a book, Micronesia: Trust Betrayed. From 1973 to 1977 he once again returned to the cause of human rights as the Project Director of Humanitarian Policy Studies at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He rejoined the Department of State in 1977 and has served the U.S. delegation to the United Nations in numerous capacities since then.

For Ambassador McHenry to return to the academic world for an honorary degree is most appropriate. Clearly, with his writing and scholarly background, he gives great credence to the notion that studying a problem will help to find a way to ameliorate it. His book, numerous articles and his diplomatic achievements bear witness to his fruitful study of problems. Indeed, former U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young refers to him as "the professor." It is most fitting that Ambassador McHenry be awarded the specific degree of the honorary Doctor of Laws as he is so intimately involved in the most fundamental of all international laws, the law of human rights.

Ambassador McHenry has carried out well and will continue to carry out a dictum of George Washington's farewell speech: "Observe good faith and justice toward all nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all." Donald F. McHenry's contribution to mankind is a tremendous one.

Dr. Willis Moore

For his eighteen years at Southern Illinois University, Dr. Willis Moore well served the Philosophy Department at the University, the discipline of Philosophy, the University, and the academic community in general. These efforts culminated with his service to the University as a member of the SIU Board of Trustees from January 19, 1974 to April 21, 1977.

Dr. Moore's contribution to the Department of Philosophy started in 1955. At that time, the philosophy department consisted of only three people. Starting with tiny library holdings, limitations of space, and lack of a doctoral program, he was able to initiate projects which would eventually correct all of the obstructions to attracting high quality teachers and scholars. During his tenure as department chairman, SIUC became known as having one of the top forty philosophy departments in the nation. His success in establishing high standards of teaching, scholarship, and collegiality is exemplary.

Dr. Moore's contribution to his discipline extended over a period of more than twenty-two years. His value to the American Philosophical Association was more than just as a contributing scholar. He served on its Executive Committee from 1946 to 1949 and as Editor of a Philosophers' Newsletter from 1948 to 1951. In addition, he chaired the Committee on Academic Freedom from 1953 to 1954 and the Committee on Resolutions from 1961 to 1962. He was also President of the Illinois Philosophy Conference from 1957 to 1959. By serving his discipline, he was also serving the needs of the young philosophy program here at SIU. Doubtless, the arrival of many of the prominent scholars who are now and have been in the past associated with the SIUC Department of Philosophy can be traced to the efforts of Dr. Moore.

In addition to his work in philosophy, he has also served the community of scholars as a member and officer in the American Association of University Professors (AAUP). He served on the National Council of the AAUP from 1951 to 1954, on its Investigations Committees on three separate occasions, was a member of the Executive Committee of the AAUP National Council from 1952 to 1954, and served on both committees O (Organization and Policy, 1953 to 1960) and H (Ethics of the Profession, 1960 to 1963). In addition to that, he was active in both the local and the state AAUP and was, in fact, president of the University of Missouri chapter from 1945 to 1946, president of the University of Tennessee chapter 1951 to 1952, and president of the Southern Illinois University chapter 1961 to 1962. On the state level, he was chairman of the Committee on Academic Freedom-the Illinois Conference from 1959 to 1967.

His major contribution, however, to all that a university stands for cannot be derived from his many and distinguished activities as a teacher, scholar, and committeeman. For it was through two seminal articles which appeared in the Bulletin of the American Association of University Professors that his mark was made. One of these articles appeared in Volume 36 (1950) with the title "Academic Freedom as Obligation". It must be remembered that this was not an easy time in the United States. This was the era of McCarthyism when people would be persecuted for their beliefs or their alleged beliefs. Willis Moore not only spoke what he believed, but he wrote it down, as well, for all others to see. He had the courage and conviction to state the principles that we all take to be self-evident today. He spoke of academic freedom, not as something to be granted to someone, but rather as an inalienable right which accompanies the office of the professorship. Tenure is something that is awarded to an individual, whereas academic freedom is not a privilege, but rather a right of all of us.

Dr. Willis Moore's contributions to Southern Illinois University have been through many channels. He has contributed through the constructing of a high quality philosophy department, the building and maintaining of his own national reputation among philosophers, and for his stalwart stand for academic freedom and a truly democratic education for all of the people. These alone would qualify him for the Distinguished Service Award even without his notable accomplishments as a member of the Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University.

The Southern Illinois University System

The Southern Illinois University System is a senior, public university system comprised of two diverse institutions, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, serving approximately 33,000 students. One of the nation's largest, The Southern Illinois University System had its beginnings in Carbondale and was chartered in 1869 as Southern Illinois Normal University. In 1949 Southern Illinois University began offering off-campus academic courses in the Metropolitan East St. Louis area, and this initiative led to the eventual development of a separate, distinctive institution in Edwardsville.

The mission and scope of The Southern Illinois University System is highly complex and emphasizes a commitment to quality education. As The Southern Illinois University System has grown and flourished, its constituent Universities have developed programs of instruction, research, and public service which have attracted and served students, faculty, and staff not only from the region but from throughout the State of Illinois and the nation, and from overseas as well.

The Universities within The Southern Illinois University System offer a broad range of academic programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master's, doctoral, and professional degree levels. In addition to the many undergraduate degree programs offered, the constituent Universities support over sixty academic programs which lead to the master's degree, and twenty-two programs which lead to the doctorate. The professional schools are designed to provide quality health and legal personnel and services to the people of the State of Illinois. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville operates a School of Nursing in Edwardsville and a School of Dental Medicine in Alton, and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale has a School of Law in Carbondale and a School of Medicine headquartered in Springfield. Of the 33,000 students currently enrolled, more than 6,000 are enrolled in graduate and professional programs.

The instruction, research, and service missions of the two constituent Universities reflect the needs of the geographic areas in which they are located. The System is also committed to serving Statewide, national, and international needs. This commitment is reflected in educational activities located off the main campuses in communities throughout the State and the nation. Its presence is also felt in countries other than the United States through research and training exchanges and through worldwide student exchange programs.

The Southern Illinois University System is governed by a nine-member Board of Trustees which sets policy that enables the institutions to carry out established missions and goals. The Chancellor of The Southern Illinois University System is the chief executive officer of the System and is the primary link between the Universities and the Board of Trustees. The University Presidents report directly to the Chancellor and are responsible for the internal operations of the respective institutions.

The Southern Illinois University System is headed by Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw. Appointed by the Board of Trustees in July, 1979, Chancellor Shaw is the chief spokesman and leader of this dynamic, comprehensive university system.

The following list contains the names of candidates for degrees, the granting of which is contingent upon successful completion of all the requirements for the degree.

One asterisk after the name indicates the candidate is being graduated with honors, two asterisks indicate high honors, and three asterisks indicate highest honors.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD

DR. HENRY J. REHN

Dr. Henry J. Rehn greatly served Southern Illinois University by his contributions to the academic program, especially, in the areas of the vocational and professional schools. Dr. Rehn is responsible for guiding the many different academic areas of the University during their nascence and growth. His gentle guidance did much to nurture the faculty and student body of five different colleges. As an administrator Dr. Rehn was considerate, forthright, humane and sought consensus rather than confrontation.

Henry Joseph Rehn was born in Russia November 2, 1900. After becoming a naturalized citizen of the United States in 1917, he received a bachelor's degree at Oregon State, an M.B.A. at the University of Oregon in 1925, and a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1930. He has taught at Washington State College, the University of Chicago, the University of Texas, and Temple University, as well as having been an Associate Professor for one year at the University of Chiao-Tung in Shanghai, China (1931-32). He was Professor of Business Administration from 1945 until his retirement in 1969, Dean of the College of Vocations and Professions from 1945 to 1957 and Dean of the School of Business from 1957 to 1965.

The College of Vocations and Professions under the leadership of Dr. Henry Rehn gave birth to five of the present academic colleges of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. He hired many of the people who were the first deans of those colleges as well as helped to develop the faculty of those colleges. From the College of Vocations and Professions came the College of Communications and Fine Arts, the School of Agriculture, what was at that time the School of Home Economics, and the College of Business and Administration. In addition, he helped to develop the Nursing program which is presently located at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. His contribution to curriculum reform helped to establish the College of Business and Administration as an accredited College of Business in 1962. In addition to this, he saw to it that a quality undergraduate program was developed in the College and attempted to obtain an M.B.A. program for that College. Although he was not successful in that, he did pave the way for the future establishment of an M.B.A. program which is presently being augmented by a Doctor of Business Administration program.

Dr. Rehn's contributions were not only in the structuring and the quality of the College of Business but also in the service activities of the College. He created the Business Research Bureau which helped to broaden the mission of the College. Unfortunately, this Bureau fell a victim of the 1973 budget cuts. Another indication of his dedication to the service activities of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was his inclusion in the College of the Small Business Institute which is still very active in providing service to area businesses.

Dr. Rehn was also active in student organizations and formed a student business group. In addition to the tremendous attention that he paid to the Business students, he also helped to establish the Tau Kappa Epsilon Chapter on this campus. In recognition of this, there is presently the Henry J. Rehn Student Award which is presented to a student member of Society for the Advancement of Management, a business organization, in recognition of a member's service to the College.

During his long career, Dr. Rehn has had many honors bestowed upon him, including being made a member of the Beta Gamma Sigma, the School of Business Honor Society, in 1963. In addition to this, he was one of the fifty recipients of a medallion from the University of Oregon School of Business. This medallion was awarded to Dr. Rehn in 1946 in recognition of his contributions to the business community. He has also served as a consultant in Administrative Management for the United States Bureau of the Budget and a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He has been active in a number of professional organizations throughout his career.

Dr. Rehn's contributions to Southern Illinois University at Carbondale have been of high quality and have been sustained since his arrival on campus in 1945. In fact, Dr. Rehn is still active in the Annuitants' Association. It is then very appropriate that Dr. Henry J. Rehn be given a Distinguished Service Award in recognition of his long-lasting contributions to the academic service and student functions of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

The Southern Illinois University System

The Southern Illinois University System is a senior, public university system comprised of two diverse institutions, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, serving approximately 33,000 students. One of the nation's largest, The Southern Illinois University System had its beginnings in Carbondale and was chartered in 1869 as Southern Illinois Normal University. In 1949 Southern Illinois University began offering off-campus academic courses in the Metropolitan East St. Louis area, and this initiative led to the eventual development of a separate, distinctive institution in Edwardsville.

The mission and scope of The Southern Illinois University System is highly complex and emphasizes a commitment to quality education. As The Southern Illinois University System has grown and flourished, its constituent Universities have developed programs of instruction, research, and public service which have attracted and served students, faculty, and staff not only from the region but from throughout the State of Illinois and the nation, and from overseas as well.

The Universities within The Southern Illinois University System offer a broad range of academic programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master's, doctoral, and professional degree levels. In addition to the many undergraduate degree programs offered, the constituent Universities support over sixty academic programs which lead to the master's degree, and twenty-three programs which lead to the doctorate. The professional schools are designed to provide quality health and legal personnel and services to the people of the State of Illinois. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville operates a School of Nursing in Edwardsville and a School of Dental Medicine in Alton, and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale has a School of Law in Carbondale and a School of Medicine headquartered in Springfield. Of the 33,000 students currently enrolled, more than 6,000 are enrolled in graduate and professional programs.

The instruction, research, and service missions of the two constituent Universities reflect the needs of the geographic areas in which they are located. The System is also committed to serving Statewide, national, and international needs. This commitment is reflected in educational activities located off the main campuses in communities throughout the State and the nation. Its presence is also felt in countries other than the United States through research and training exchanges and through worldwide student exchange programs.

The Southern Illinois University System is governed by a nine-member Board of Trustees which sets policy that enables the institutions to carry out established missions and goals. The Chancellor of The Southern Illinois University System is the chief executive officer of the System and is the primary link between the Universities and the Board of Trustees. The University Presidents report directly to the Chancellor and are responsible for the internal operations of the respective institutions.

The Southern Illinois University System is headed by Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw. Appointed by the Board of Trustees in July, 1979, Chancellor Shaw is the chief spokesman and leader of this dynamic, comprehensive university system.

MORNING SESSION

The following list contains the names of candidates for degrees, the granting of which is contingent upon successful completion of all the requirements for the degree.

One asterisk after the name indicates the candidate is being graduated with honors, two asterisks indicate high honors, and three asterisks indicate highest honors.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD

DOROTHY MAYO MORRIS

Dorothy Arnold Mayo, born in Orono, Maine, attended the University of Maine. After graduation, she worked in the University Library where she met a young instructor of public speaking and director of forensics, Delyte W. Morris. Their marriage, which has spanned more than half a century, is a partnership of complementary talents. After her husband completed the doctoral degree at the University of Iowa, he taught at the Junior College of Kansas City, Missouri (1936-1938), Indiana State Teachers College in Terre Haute (1938-1946), and Ohio State University from 1946 until they came to Southern Illinois University in 1948. During these years, Dorothy Morris raised two sons, Peter and Michael, and maintained her active involvement with university life.

As the "First Lady" of Southern Illinois University for the twenty-two years of her husband's presidency, Dorothy Morris served devotedly and in exemplary fashion as official university hostess. The Morris home was the scene of innumerable formal receptions, civic meetings, and the less formal, but equally important, gatherings such as the famed watermelon feasts on the President's lawn.

Mrs. Morris deserves a great deal of credit for her contributions toward the explosive growth and maturation of the university during the period of her husband's presidency. In her appearances before clubs and organizations throughout Southern Illinois, Mrs. Morris offered her audiences special insights into the visions of community-university relationships which she and Dr. Morris so vigorously sought. Through her efforts and by her contributions, both on and off campus, she was involved significantly in acquiring that popular support so much needed in transforming a small teachers' college into a dynamic institution of higher learning.

Dorothy Morris' family was much larger than her husband and two sons, and later their wives and her three grandchildren. In 1949, her official family included 300 faculty members and 3000 students. By 1962, this family had grown to 14,000 students and 1300 faculty and staff. Numerous "cousins" included influential leaders in education, government, agriculture, industry and commerce, and civic groups. With the University's growing to two campuses, by 1970 the size of the official family exceeded 36,000 students and 2000 faculty. Throughout these years, Mrs. Morris involved herself in welcoming each new faculty member and family.

Mrs. Morris has been and still is involved in many university and community organizations. She has been or is currently involved in the Southern Illinois University and the Carbondale Women's Clubs, the Southern Illinois University chapter of the American Association of University Women, the Evergreen Garden Club, the Professional Education Organization, and the Methodist Church. In 1955, she was one of the founders of the Carbondale Panhellenic Council, and, in 1961, she served as General Chairman of the Illinois Convention of the Professional Education Organization. She was a frequent speaker to many groups and organizations throughout Southern Illinois. In 1961, Mrs. Morris was named an honorary member of Kappa Omicron Phi, only the second person to be so selected for this recognition in the history of the organization's honorary. In 1962, she was chosen by the Southern Illinois University Women's Club as its "Southern Illinois Woman of the Year". And, in 1977, she was the recipient of the "Service to Southern Award" given annually by the Southern Illinois University Jackson County Alumni Club. She has recently been re-appointed to the Illinois Arts Council and she currently co-chairs the Morris Library Endowment Fund.

Because she has given so unselfishly of her time and talents to the families of faculty and staff at Southern Illinois University, to the University's generations of students, and to the community in general, it is indeed appropriate that Southern Illinois University should honor Dorothy Mayo Morris with its Distinguished Service Award.

The Southern Illinois University System

The Southern Illinois University System is a senior, public university system comprised of two diverse institutions, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, serving approximately 33,000 students. One of the nation's largest, The Southern Illinois University System had its beginnings in Carbondale and was chartered in 1869 as Southern Illinois Normal University. In 1949 Southern Illinois University began offering off-campus academic courses in the Metropolitan East St. Louis area, and this initiative led to the eventual development of a separate, distinctive institution in Edwardsville.

The mission and scope of The Southern Illinois University System is highly complex and emphasizes a commitment to quality education. As The Southern Illinois University System has grown and flourished, its constituent Universities have developed programs of instruction, research, and public service which have attracted and served students, faculty, and staff not only from the region but from throughout the State of Illinois and the nation, and from overseas as well.

The Universities within The Southern Illinois University System offer a broad range of academic programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master's, doctoral, and professional degree levels. In addition to the many undergraduate degree programs offered, the constituent Universities support over sixty academic programs which lead to the master's degree, and twenty-three programs which lead to the doctorate. The professional schools are designed to provide quality health and legal personnel and services to the people of the State of Illinois. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville operates a School of Nursing in Edwardsville and a School of Dental Medicine in Alton, and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale has a School of Law in Carbondale and a School of Medicine headquartered in Springfield. Of the 33,000 students currently enrolled, more than 6,000 are enrolled in graduate and professional programs.

The instruction, research, and service missions of the two constituent Universities reflect the needs of the geographic areas in which they are located. The System is also committed to serving Statewide, national, and international needs. This commitment is reflected in educational activities located off the main campuses in communities throughout the State and the nation. Its presence is also felt in countries other than the United States through research and training exchanges and through worldwide student exchange programs.

The Southern Illinois University System is governed by a nine-member Board of Trustees which sets policy that enables the institutions to carry out established missions and goals. The Chancellor of The Southern Illinois University System is the chief executive officer of the System and is the primary link between the Universities and the Board of Trustees. The University Presidents report directly to the Chancellor and are responsible for the internal operations of the respective institutions.

The Southern Illinois University System is headed by Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw. Appointed by the Board of Trustees in July, 1979, Chancellor Shaw is the chief spokesman and leader of this dynamic, comprehensive university system.
